CORAL GABLES HOSPITAL

Alicia De Leon-Sanchez
CNO

At Coral Gables Hospital, you'll find nurses that share a common belief about the hospital: it is a family. This family-centered culture has been fostered by chief nursing officer Alicia De Leon-Sanchez throughout her four-year tenure at the hospital. De Leon-Sanchez is responsible for the integration, coordination and direction of nursing and patient care within the hospital. She provides direct leadership to ensure the delivery of high-quality health care and participates in the strategic planning of Coral Gables Hospital's programs and services.

Prior to her position as chief nursing officer at Coral Gables Hospital, De Leon-Sanchez served as the performance management and innovation nurse specialist throughout Tenet's network of Florida hospitals. De Leon-Sanchez earned her bachelor of science in nursing from the University of the Philippines, master of science in nursing from Barry University, and master of science in business administration from Nova Southeastern University.
